I'm staying home from school today, we're stuck in quarantine,

By using social distancing, we will stay safe and clean.

This feels like it has lasted, for weeks and weeks and weeks,

No visits to the groceries, no Shuls, and no boutiques

I still wake up quite early, there's online school on Zoom;
Today I will be learning, in my cluttered living room.

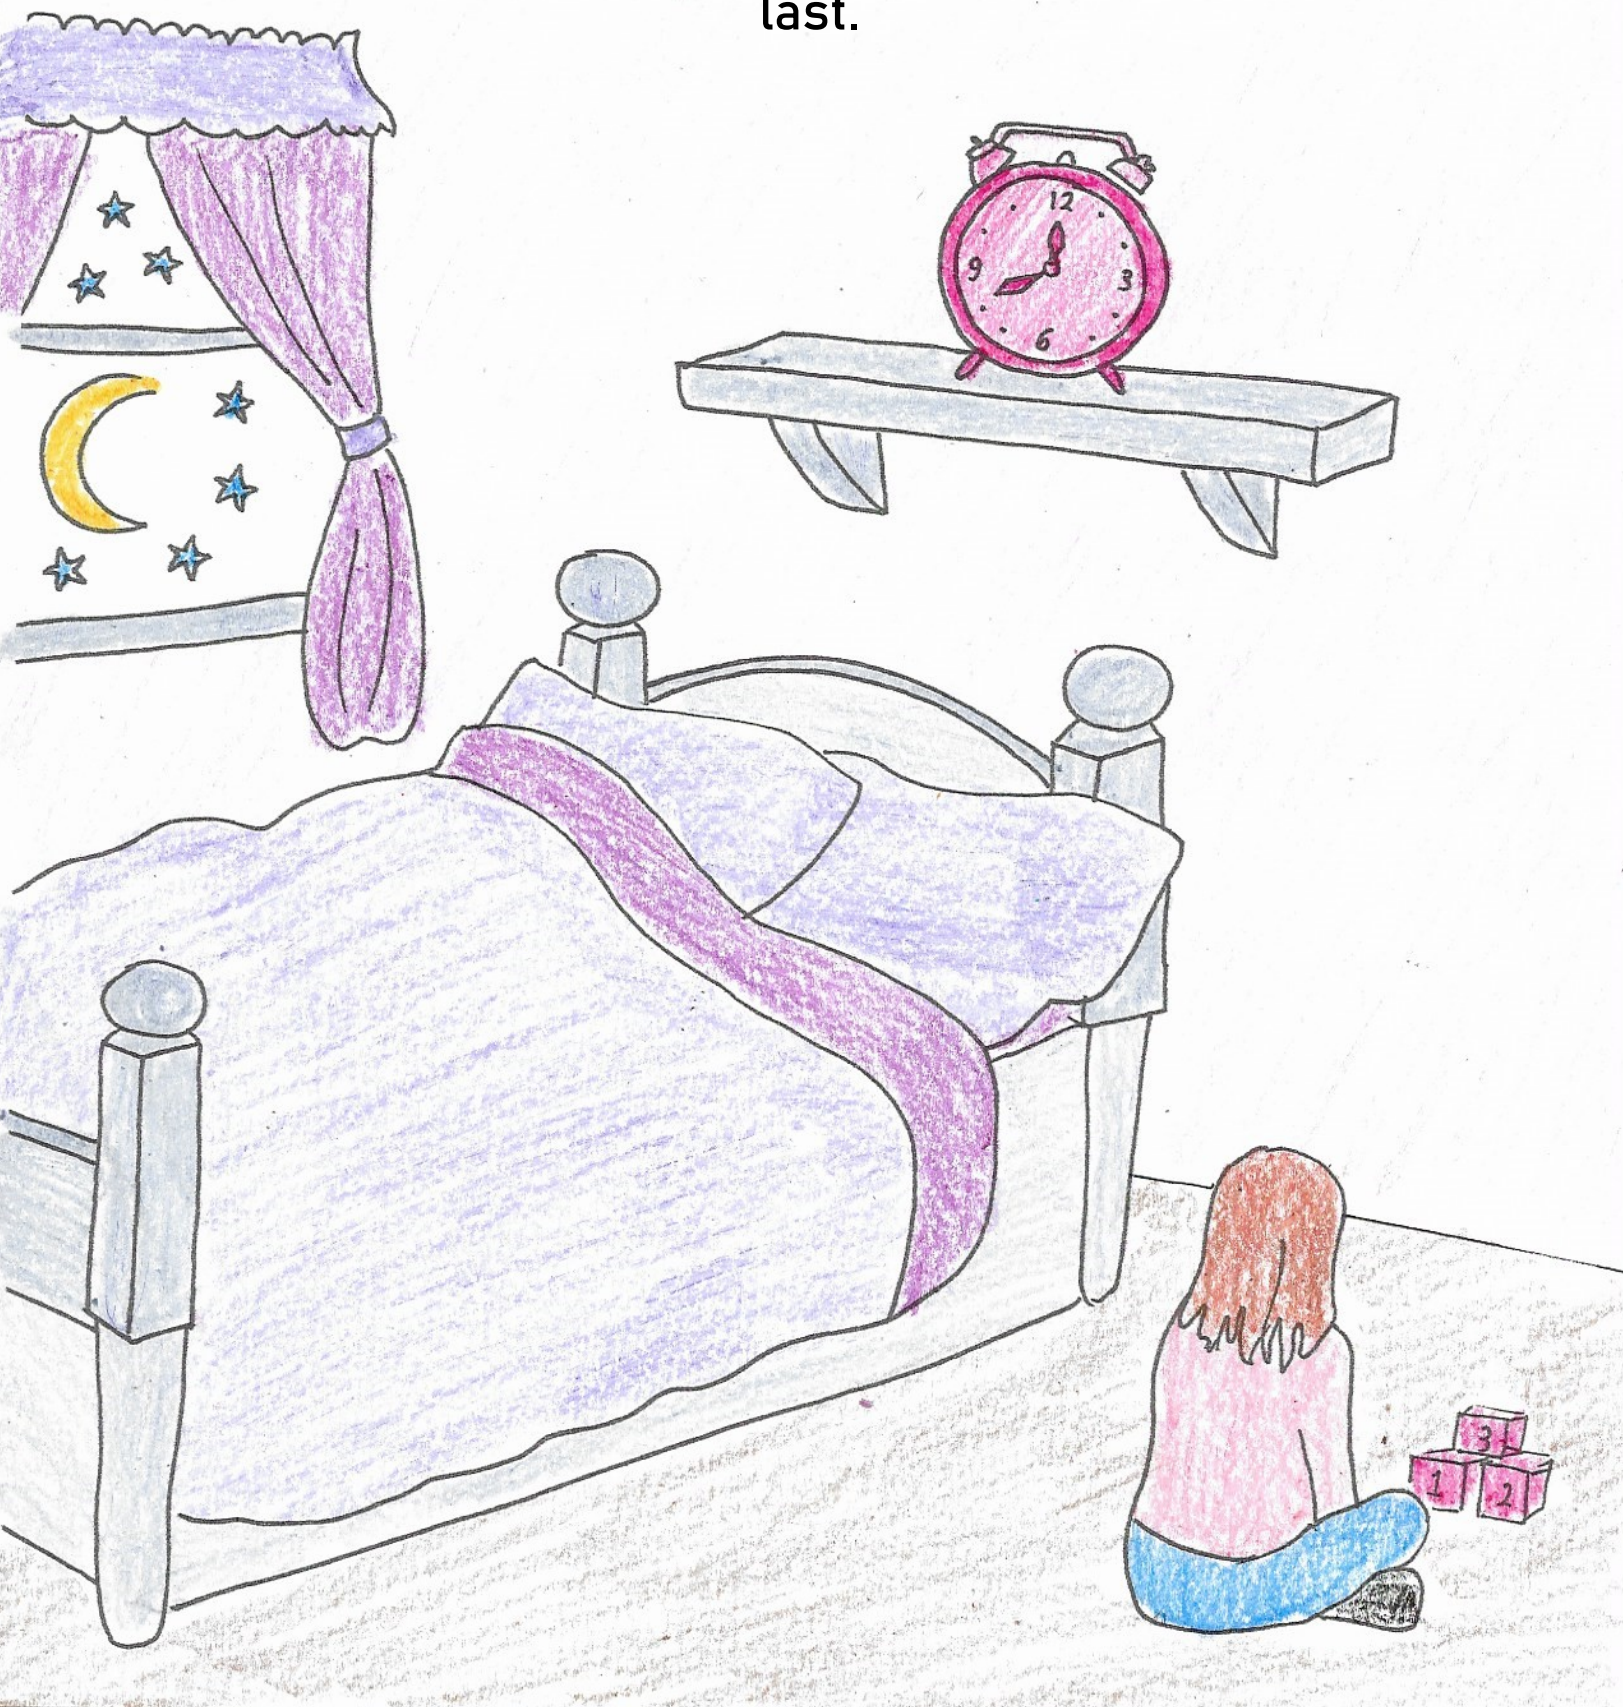

The school shirt that I've worn all week,
Is no longer crisp and white,
My pajama pants and slippers,
Make the outfit look "just right."

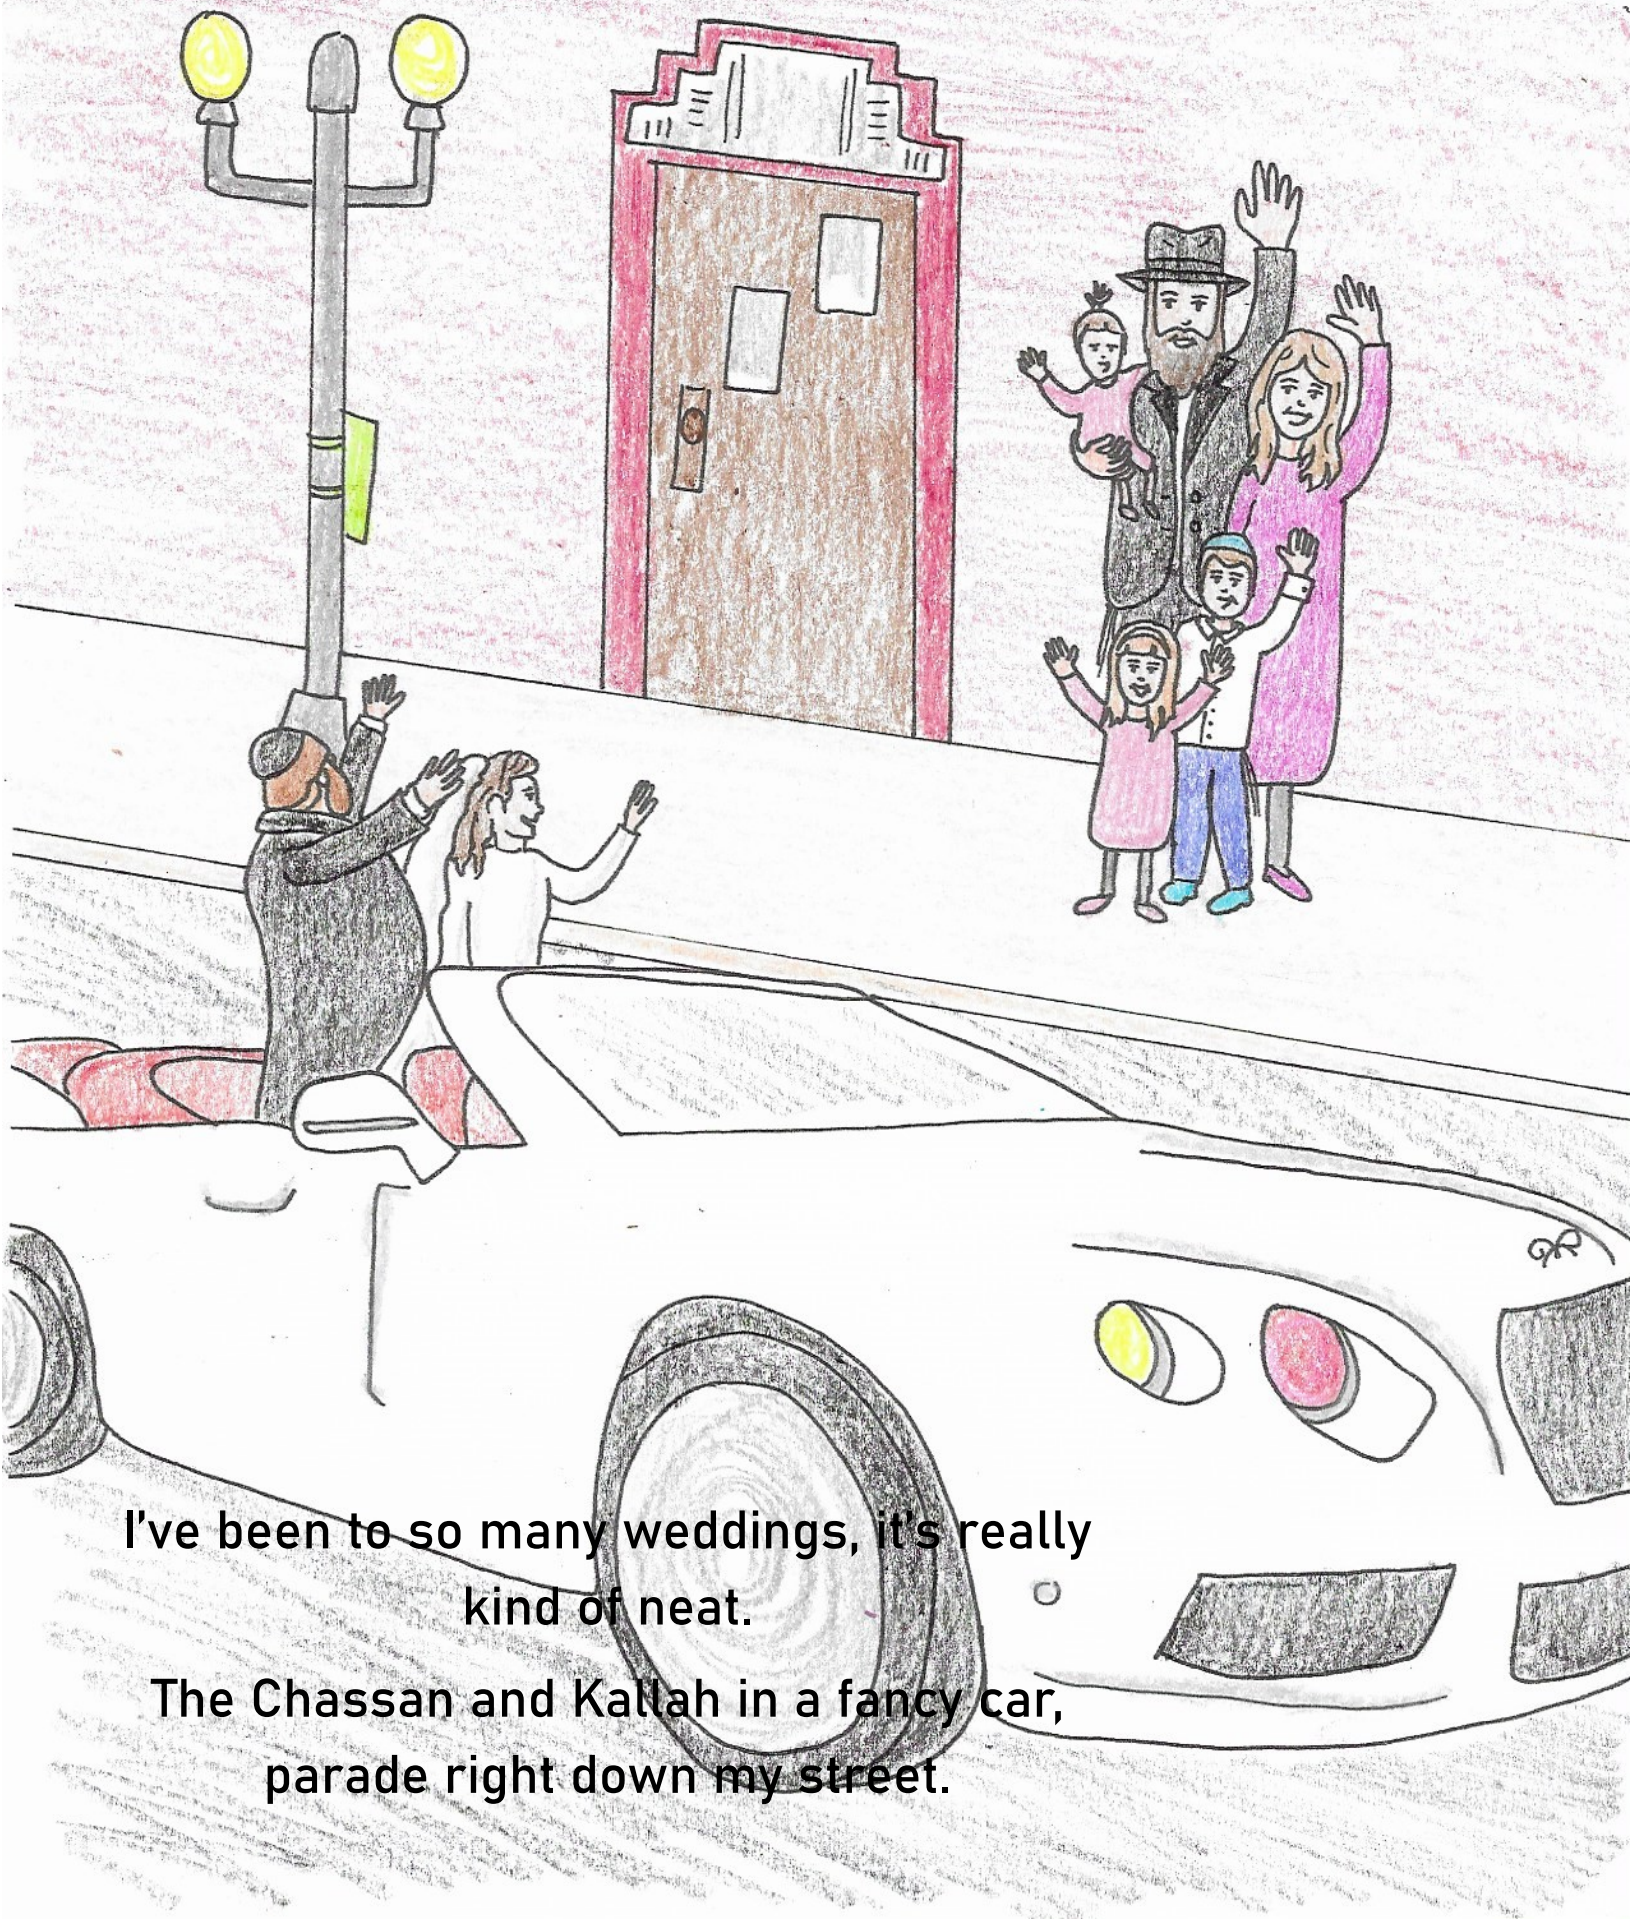

It doesn't matter what I wear, the teacher cannot tell,
I'll be sure to press on mute, when my sister starts to yell.

Everyone goes to bed so late, showers are a thing of the past.

We scrub real well on Friday, and hope that it will last.

I've been to so many weddings, it's really kind of neat.

The Chassan and Kallah in a fancy car, parade right down my street.

My house is far from boring,
There is never a dull minute,
Because of the restaurant, school and shul,
And nurse's office in it.

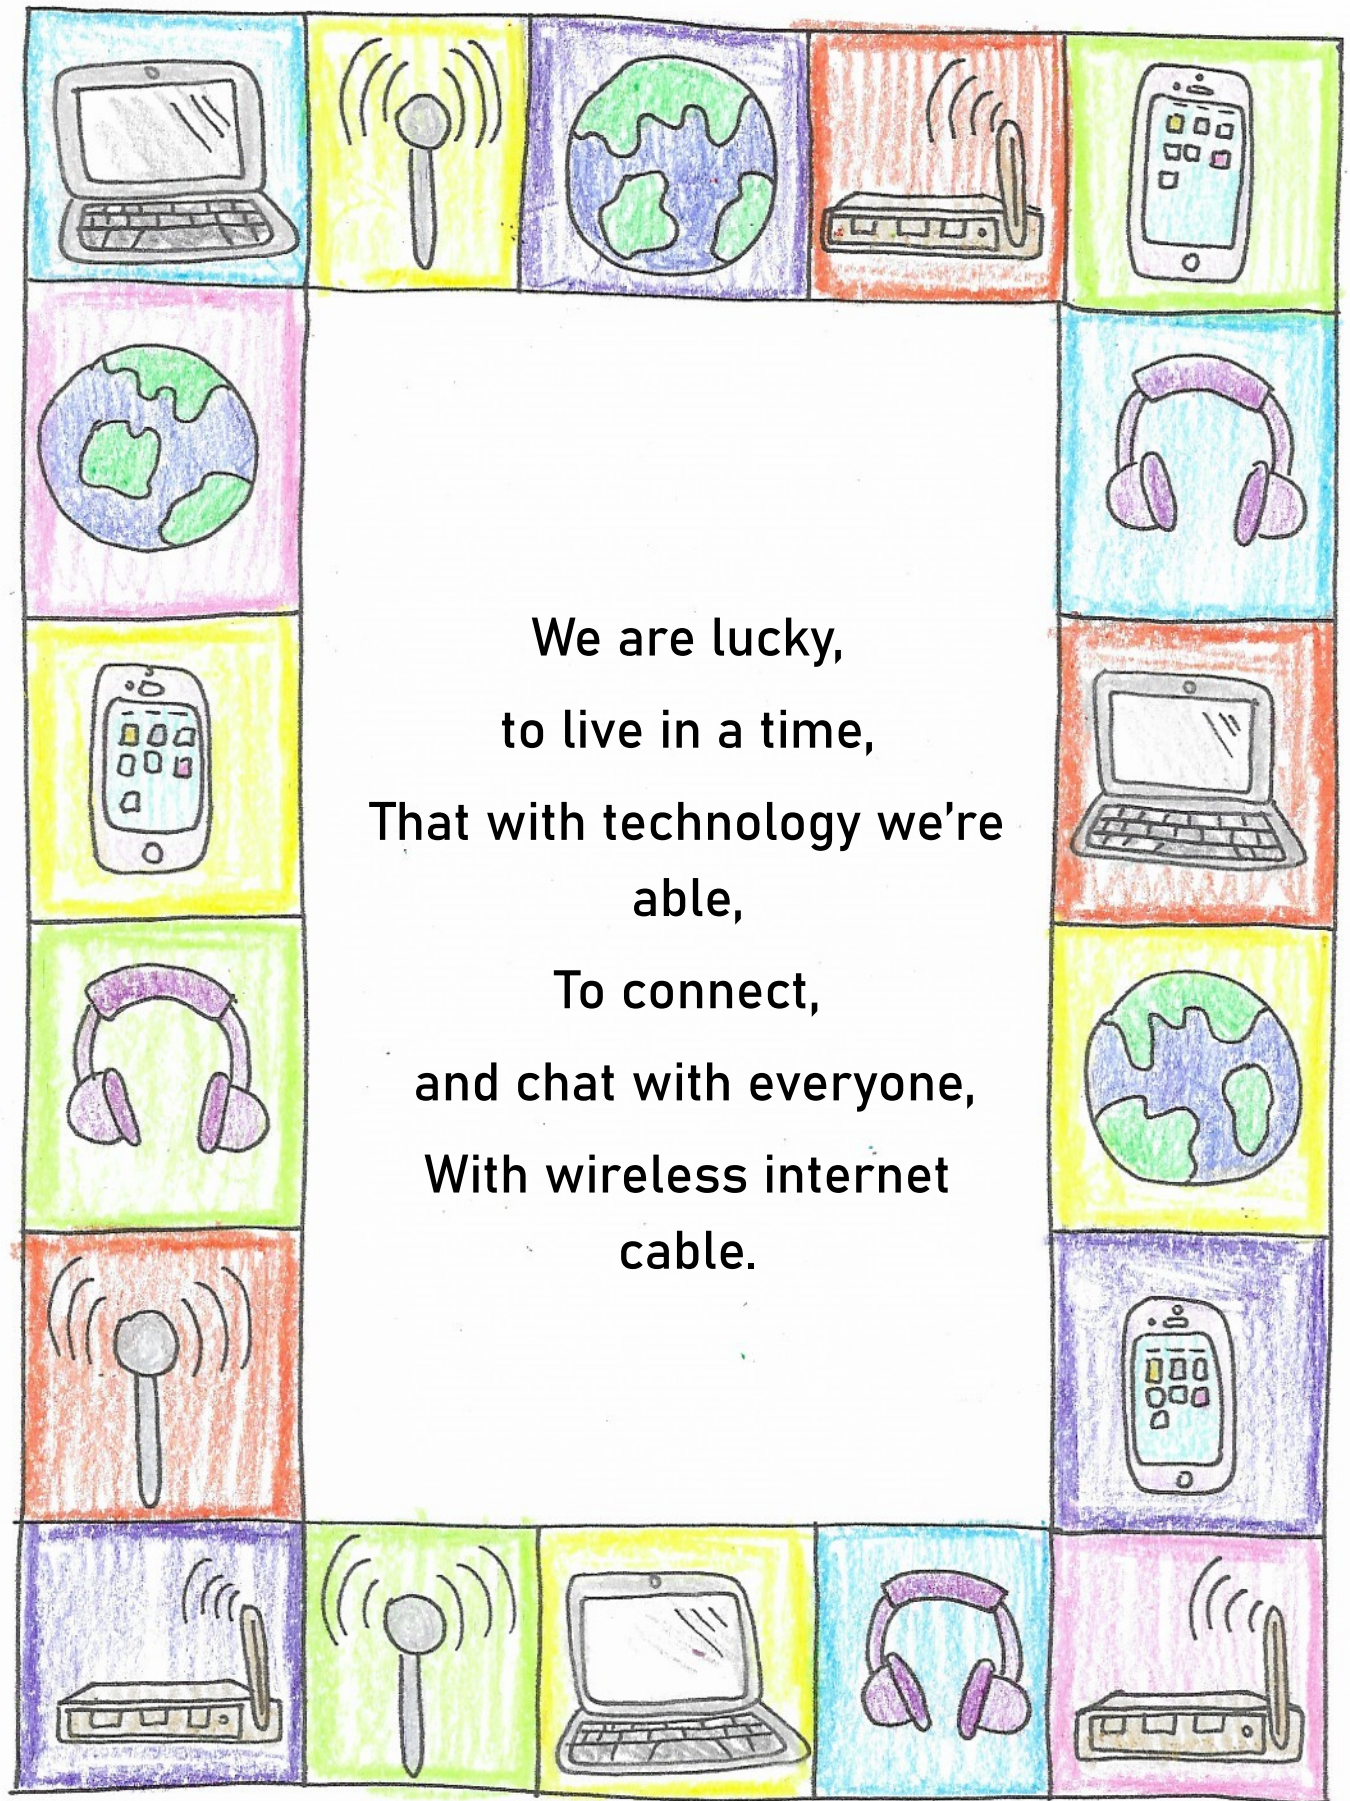

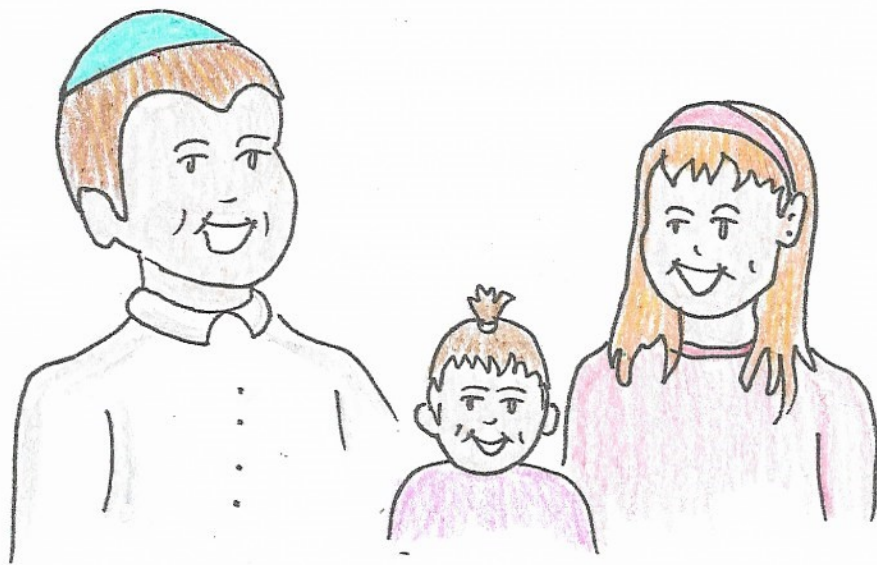

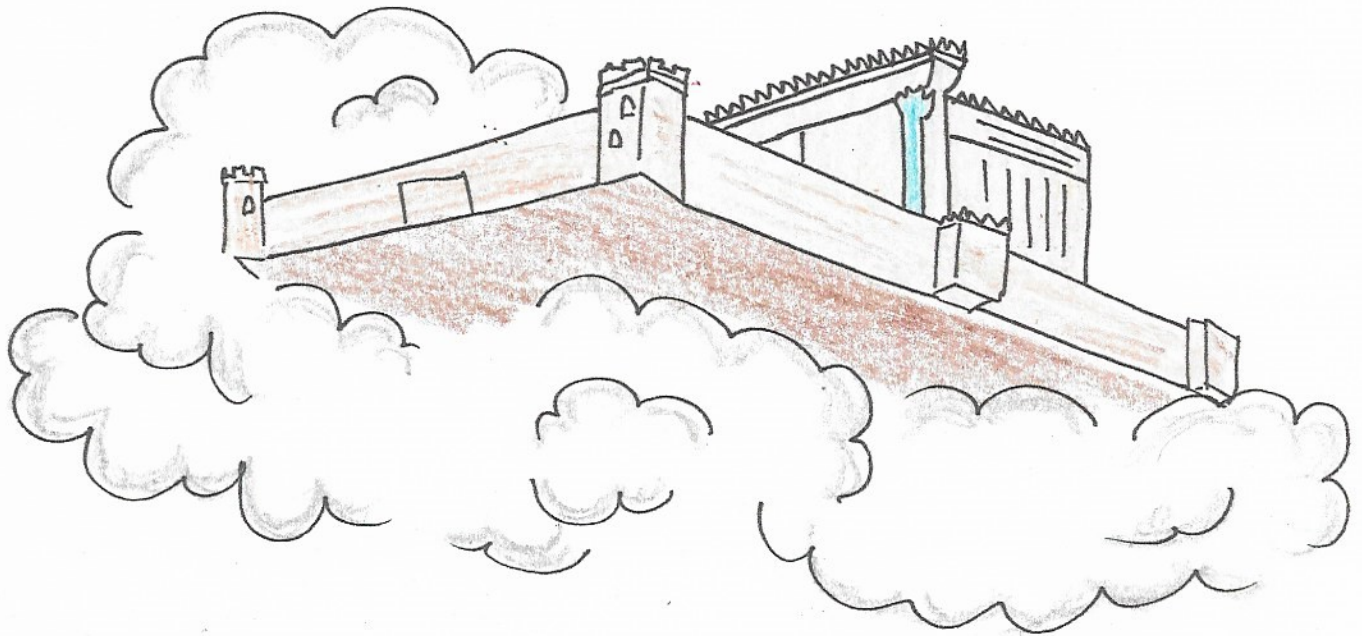

My mother's now the full time cook, she also scrubs the floors, It's best to stay out of her way, and spend our breaks outdoors.

My father is a teacher, he's really feeling stressed,
But I point out and tell him, that we should all feel blessed.

We are lucky,
to live in a time,
That with technology we're able,
To connect,
and chat with everyone,
With wireless internet cable.

We will all be reunited soon, Moshiach is on his way,
He'll take us to Yerushalayim, may it be speedily today!

Glossary for children born after 2020

Quarantine– Keeping away from other people to stop a disease from spreading.

Zoom– don't confuse this with the noise a car makes, Zoom is actually an online program where people can have meetings and classes.
